

Tracy Evans was born and raised in Tulsa, Ok. As a child she figure skated in Tulsa and at the age of 12, she moved to Vail, Colorado where she trained under sponsorships and competed for four years. She returned to Tulsa her Senior year and after graduating for Union High School, she attended Northeastern State University on a music and drama scholarship where she appeared in both National print ads and commercials. After marriage, she returned to ice skating as a coach at the Tulsa Ice Arena where she taught classes, private lessons and choreography for nine years. With four of her five daughters now dancing competitively at STDC, she has joined the staff teaching both voice lessons and dance classes.